Advancing Your Conservative Agenda

Fighting McCain/Feingold

Citizens United has teamed up with Congressman Ron Paul (R-TX) and several other conservative public policy organizations to file suit in Federal Court to strike down the unconstitutional McCain/Feingold campaign finance reform law.

Several months ago, CU joined 55 other conservative groups co-signing letters to both the U.S. Senate and President Bush denouncing the unconstitutionality of this law. The McCain/Feingold law tramples on our First Amendment freedoms in an effort by career Washington politicians to prevent individuals and public policy groups from challenging entrenched politicians. McCain/Feingold would ban issue advertising by Citizens United and all other advocacy groups in future election cycles.

Defending Vice-President Cheney

Citizens United is also backing Vice-President Cheney with a friend of the court (amicus curiae) brief supporting his refusal to turn over confidential meeting records about energy matters to the General Accounting Office (GAO). The GAO has sued Vice-President Cheney for these records. Citizens United contends that the GAO's subpoena for Cheney's records is unconstitutional and violates the federal statute creating the GAO. Both of these legal actions are available at www.citizensunited.org

CU President David N. Bossie with Citizens United's Honorary Chairman, Congressman Bob Barr.

Analyzing the War on Terror

Citizens United was quick to respond to the aftermath of September 11, 2001. Citizens United Foundation analyzes critical issues relating to the War on Terror in policy papers entitled the Citizens Public Policy Review. They can be found on our website at:

www.citizensunited.org Recent issues include:

• Bin Laden's Rage: Why He and His Followers Hate The United States explains the religious and intellectual roots of the Radical Muslim terrorists led by Osama bin Laden. Bin Laden's Rage shows how Radical Muslim theology dates back to the Middle Ages. It is

Citizens United's Record of Achievement

Citizens United was founded in 1988 to fight for conservative values, individual freedoms and liberty. Over the ensuing 14 years, we have developed successful methods of combining excellent research with effective forms of communication including television, radio, newspapers, books, petition drives and public policy papers to fight and win conservative battles on Capitol Hill. Citizens United's first President, Floyd Brown, developed our mission at the outset:

Citizens United is an organization dedicated to restoring our government to citizens control. Through a combination of education, advocacy, and grass roots organization, Citizens United seeks to reassert the traditional American values of limited government, freedom of enterprise, strong families, and national sovereignty and security. Citizens United's goal is to restore the founding father's vision of a free nation, guided by the honesty, common sense and good will of its citizens.

Since then, Citizens United has become well known and respected nationally for its in-depth research, public policy papers and effective communications skills.

authored by CU President David N. Bossie and Senior Policy Analyst Christopher M. Gray.

• Al-Qaeda's Revenge: Its Methods and Nation-State Allies, also authored by Bossie and Gray, studies how this Radical Muslim terrorist network recruits its members, conducts its secret operations and quietly receives support and sanctuary from allied countries. Al-Qaeda's Revenge also suggests a strategy for America to wage war against the terror network.

• Bio-War: America's Greatest Current Threat analyzes the dangers of bio-terrorism and how we can prepare for and prevent an incident. Mary Beth Brown, a Registered Nurse and Director of the American Medical Commission, wrote this well researched policy paper.

• Terror Attacks on America: A Wake-Up Call for Immigration and Border Control Reform studies America's lax policies of immigration and border control and how they allowed Al-Qaeda terrorists to wreak havoc on the United States. Authored by Citizens United General Counsel and Director of the American Sovereignty Action Project, Michael Boos, Terror Attacks on America explains how our immigration and border policies went wrong and what can be done to fix them.

• Military Trials for Al-Qaeda Terrorists & Their Taliban Sponsors are Constitutionally Sound and Consistent with American Interests analyzes President Bush's proposal to try terrorists using military tribunals. Authored by Michael Boos and David Bossie, this paper demonstrates that military tribunals are a valid and effective method for trying captured terrorists.

• Blame America First, Again: The Campus Left Reacts to the War on Terror also authored by Bossie and Gray demonstrates how college professors are leading the opposition to the War on Terror on college campuses.

The CU staff makes frequent television and radio appearances on issues related to the War on Terror and other important public policy issues. A partial list is on page 8 of this newsletter. David Bossie has also authored several op-eds including a review of Democratic Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, called 'Driving Mr. Daschle,' that appeared in the March 21, 2002 Washington Times editorial page.

Lobbying Congress

One of the first major projects we took on was "Citizens United to Defeat D.C. Statehood." The campaign for D.C. statehood was being led by Jesse Jackson and other Leftist Democrats. Citizens United's then-President Floyd Brown testified before Congress opposing the statehood bill. We organized a 'letters to the editor' campaign which resulted in hundreds of local newspapers nationwide publishing the Citizens United-inspired letters. We also delivered millions of petitions to Congress opposing D.C. statehood.

In 1991, Citizens United championed Clarence Thomas' nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court. The highlight of the effort was an effective television commercial entitled Who Will Judge the Judge? comparing Thomas' exemplary record to that of liberal Senators Ted Kennedy, Joe Biden, and Alan Cranston. The television ad ran nationally and helped sway public opinion to support

Clarence Thomas' confirmation as a Supreme Court Justice.

Investigating Bill Clinton

David Bossie joined the Citizens United staff in 1992 as its Political Director. During that year's Democrat Presidential primaries, CU undertook the task of educating the American people about Bill Clinton's record as Governor of Arkansas. Citizens United published a best-selling biography of Bill Clinton, SLICK WILLIE: WHY AMERICA CANNOT TRUST BILL CLINTON (Annapolis-Washington Publishing, 1992), exploring his record as Arkansas Governor, his unconstitutional abuses of power and the policies he would institute if elected President. SLICK WILLIE introduced America to the Whitewater land development scandal and exposed Bill and Hillary Clinton.

Following Clinton's election in 1992,

CPAC Conference in Washington, D.C.

In February, Citizens United co-sponsored the 29th Annual Conservative Political Action Committee Conference. Over 3,000 conservatives from around the nation gathered in Washington, D.C. to discuss important issues of the day. Citizens United was well represented at the conference with our information booth and the distribution of our informative Citizens Public Policy Review. In addition, David Bossie made appearances on radio talk shows and introduced Congressman Bob Barr to the conference.

Barr Praises Bossie

Congressman Bob Barr, in addressing the standing room only CPAC audience, had this to say:

“I’m going to use this quote a little bit later in my presentation here, but it is so appropriate for Dave Bossie, I want to mention it to you right now. ‘Hard-pressed on my right, my center is yielding, impossible to maneuver, situation excellent, I am attacking.’ That’s Dave Bossie. When the going gets tough, he gets going. And he doesn’t let the attacks on his left, the attacks on his right, the attacks coming that way or behind him slow him down. So Dave, it’s a tremendous honor to be there with you, shoulder to shoulder, and shoulder to shoulder with CPAC and continuing to fight the battles for truth, justice and the American way...”

Congressman Barr thanks Citizen’s United President David Bossie for CU’s commitment to fighting for conservative values and protecting our Constitution at this year’s CPAC Conference.

Bossie does “BQ View,” Blanquita Cullum’s nationally syndicated radio show. Dave later discussed the War on Terror on the Ollie North Radio Show.

David Bossie, President of the Citizens United, presents Congressman Bob Barr with a $5,000 check from Citizens United Political Victory Fund to assist him in his re-election.

Citizens United Political Victory Fund

Citizens United established a political action committee, named Citizens United Political Victory Fund, in 1994 to aid conservative candidates for the House of Representatives and U.S. Senate. Your Political Victory Fund is very active every Congressional election year. This election cycle, CU members will receive important information on the toughest races where success is vital to keeping the House and winning back control of the U.S. Senate. Throughout the election cycle, CU members will receive Special Campaign Briefings and information on how to help key conservative candidates.

Bossie addresses CPAC and describes Citizens United’s vision and role in the conservative movement as conducting vital research and advocacy on important policy issues confronting America.

Citizens United began publishing our monthly investigative newsletter, Clinton Watch, detailing Bill and Hillary Clinton's ethical problems and violations of the law.

Floyd Brown's radio talk show, Talk Back Live that ran from 1994-1995, was also part of Citizens United's mission. The nationally syndicated show discussed important topics of the day and took phone calls from across the country.

Later, Floyd and Kirby Wilbur, a Seattle talk radio host and former CU Director, compiled and published a book containing the best quotes from their favorite political, religious and intellectual leaders entitled SAY THE RIGHT THING (Merril Press, 1999).

Whitewater

Throughout the 1990's Citizens United's Political and Communications Director David Bossie, now Citizens United's President, effectively tracked down and exposed Bill and Hillary Clinton's many illegal and unethical activities. Bossie's research helped the news media learn of and understand the Whitewater scandal. CU also published a policy paper to explain the complex business scheme known as the Whitewater Development Corporation. Bossie's investigative work with television and newspaper reporters from The New York Times, ABC News, The Washington Post, and many others began in 1993. His effectiveness in investigations and dealing with the media was discussed extensively in former Wall Street Journal editor James Stewart's best-selling book on Whitewater, BLOODSPORT (Simon & Schuster, 1996).

Bossie worked closely on the Clinton investigations with former House Speaker Newt Gingrich and Majority Leader Dick Armey, pictured above.

At a private strategy meeting in Pennsylvania, David Broussard (left), CU Director of Membership Services, presents Congressman Patrick Toomey (R-PA) the Public Policy Reviews recently distributed to the House and Senate. As a strong supporter of personal freedom, Congressman Toomey voted against the

More importantly, Bossie's research on Whitewater helped spark Congress to renew the Independent Counsel Statute. Both Special Prosecutor Robert Fiske and Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr were appointed because of David's dogged investigations of the Whitewater paper trail.

David Bossie left Citizens United early in 1995 to assist U.S. Senator Lauch Faircloth (R-NC), a member of the special Senate Whitewater Committee to investigate this scandal. David's investigation for Senator Faircloth, based on his time at Citizens United, was instrumental in educating the American people about Bill and Hillary Clinton's character and ethics in Arkansas and the White House. The Senate hearings assisted Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr in indicting and convicting in Federal Court Arkansas Governor Jim Guy Tucker, Clinton partners Jim and Susan McDougal, Webster Hubbell and other prominent Whitewater figures.

Illegal Foreign Money for Missile Technology

Following the Senate Whitewater investigation, David Bossie moved over to the House of Representatives to serve as Chief Investigator of the House Government Reform and Oversight Committee. Under the Committee's Chairman Dan Burton, (R-IN), David discovered and publicized the Clinton-Gore Administration's Chinese fundraising scandal.

David uncovered how Bill Clinton and Al Gore allowed front men for the People's Republic of China's intelligence agencies to pump illegal foreign money into the 1996 Clinton-Gore re-election campaign in return for White House and Administration access. Chinese intelligence officials and their straw donors were allowed into the White House; some donors were invited to stay overnight in the Lincoln Bedroom. Bossie exposed the now infamous Buddhist Temple fundraiser in California and other money laundering schemes used to disguise illegal Communist Chinese money coming into the Clinton-Gore campaign. Based on this investigation, dozens of individuals pled guilty or were convicted of violating Federal campaign finance laws. Hundreds of others fled the country or pled the 5th amendment and refused to testify.

David Bossie also led the investigation into Janet Reno's corrupt Justice Department and unearthed how convicted Clinton buddy Webb Hubbell was paid hush money from friends of Bill and Hillary Clinton.

Meanwhile, Citizens United was doing its part to uncover and expose Bill Clinton's perjury and obstruction of justice in the Whitewater trial of Jim McDougal. Efforts included a two-year legal battle to make Bill Clinton's videotaped testimony in the criminal trial available to the public. Later, Citizens United brought a Freedom of Information Act lawsuit against Janet Reno, which ultimately forced her office to release records of the Clinton Justice Department's politically motivated surveillance of Citizens United.

After Bossie left his post as Chief Investigator in 1998, he rejoined Citizens United and Citizens United Foundation. He established The Center for Government Integrity whose mission is to conduct research on ethics in government and report about corruption and abuses of power to the American people.

Recently, The American Medical Commission was established by Mary Beth Brown, R.N. to fight against Health Care policy designed to bring about socialized medicine in America.

Investigating Al Gore

Once Bossie and Brown were a team again, they continued their investigations of the Clinton-Gore Administration. They drafted early Articles of Impeachment and forwarded them to the House Judiciary Committee and conducted petition drives and media appearances to educate the American people about the Clintons. These efforts helped to impeach Bill Clinton for his perjury and obstruction of justice in December 1998.

In 1999, David and Floyd produced a thirty-minute video detailing the campaign finance lawbreaking by the Clinton-Gore Administration entitled Bill Clinton, Al Gore, and the Communist Chinese Connection. This hard-hitting investigative video detailed the illegal activity of the Clinton-Gore Administration and the millions of dollars of illegal Chinese money flowing into the campaign. For his dedication to uncovering the truth about Bill Clinton and fighting for the conservative movement, David Bossie was presented with the prestigious Ronald Reagan Award at the 1999 CPAC Conference.

Bossie and Brown then turned their attention to the 2000 Presidential Campaign. They worked with Christopher Gray, now Citizens United's Senior Policy Analyst, to research and write a candid biography of Al Gore entitled PRINCE ALBERT: THE LIFE AND LIES OF AL GORE (Merril Press, 2000), featuring a foreword by conservative columnist Robert Novak who praised the quality and accuracy of the book authors' research and writing. PRINCE ALBERT told the unvarnished truth about Al Gore and didn't pull any punches.

Citizens United's leaders did not just write about Al Gore. They were active in various roles in the campaign. Floyd Brown served as a Washington State delegate to the 2000 Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, just as he had at the 1996 Republican Convention in San Diego. Citizens United's Vice President and General Counsel Michael Boos served on the 2000 Committee for a Conservative Platform. Both Bossie and Brown completed a national book tour and participated in numerous television, radio and media interviews for PRINCE ALBERT. They also hosted a reception honoring Chairman Dan Burton at the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia. The 500-person reception included Bob Barr, Henry Hyde, and Phyllis Schlafly.

Shortly after the Supreme Court upheld

George W. Bush's 2000 Presidential victory, Floyd Brown stepped down as Citizens United's President to become Executive Director of Young America's Foundation. Brown continues to serve as Chairman of Citizens United's Board of Directors.

Supporting President Bush

David Bossie succeeded Floyd Brown as President of Citizens United. Bossie's first major effort was to create a new project to assist President Bush's legislative agenda, Citizens United for the Bush Agenda. Its goal is to empower Citizens United members to help President Bush enact key elements of his conservative plan including winning the War on Terror, permanent across the board tax cuts, abolition of the death tax, a strong national defense, deployment of a missile defense system, choice in education and deregulation.

Lt. Col. Ruby Linn, American Patriot

Vice President for Development Megan Lott visits with long-time, generous supporter Lt. Col. Ruby Linn in Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.

Lt. Col. Linn retired from the U.S. Army with thirty years of dedicated service as a certified dietitian. She served as the head dietitian at Army hospitals all over the world. Her alma mater, Simmons College, honored her with a Doctor of Humane Letters degree for her "meritorious contributions to the education of a generation of dietitians and (her) leadership in a provision of nutrition to thousands of military personnel in both war and peace." Lt. Col. Linn is also involved in the Collingwood Library and Museum to help "promote the education of the public in our national heritage" and with the Plimoth Plantation, a living history museum with the mission of portraying the everyday experience of her Plymouth Colony ancestors. Citizens United salutes this exemplary patriot for her dedication and service to our nation!

Citizens United Foundation Impacts Public Policy

Public Policy Research and Communications

Citizens United Foundation (CUF) was established in 1992 as a tax-exempt research and educational organization with a mission of grassroots education about issues important to the future of a free nation. One of CUF's first major undertakings included a series of amicus briefs supporting the constitutionality of congressional term limits.

The American Sovereignty Action Project (ASAP) and the National Citizens Legal Network (NCLN) were created in 1995 as projects of Citizens United Foundation. ASAP's first director was Cliff Kincaid, a noted researcher and journalist. NCLN's first director was Michael Boos, who currently serves as Vice President and General Counsel of Citizens United and Citizens United Foundation.

ASAP is a grassroots educational organization fighting to protect American sovereignty and security from leftist world government and globalization projects hatched by the United Nations. ASAP regularly publishes public policy papers and articles on timely issues relating to sovereignty and the threats posed by the United Nations. Examples include a special report on the 50th anniversary of the U.N., A Matter of Sovereignty: Why the U.S. Owes Nothing to the U.N. and Al Gore, the United Nations, and the Cult of Gaia.

In 1997, ASAP produced and distributed a video documentary entitled Sinister

Secrets of the United Nations. ASAP has also sponsored Washington, D.C. seminars for congressional staff regarding the evils of the U.N. and a one world government. ASAP's staff routinely participates in public policy debates and appears on radio and television programs to discuss the U.N., the War on Terror, and sovereignty and security issues.

Courtroom Advocacy

NCLN works to fulfill Citizens United Foundation's mission by focusing on issues related to constitutional law, the original intent of the Founding Fathers, the overall process of government, and the containment of federal regulatory power. Early NCLN activities included a challenge to a minority set-aside scheme involving the sale of Viacom cable systems to a purported minority owned investor. This investor would have received a $500 million tax credit if the deal had gone through. NCLN also published an in-depth study questioning the constitutionality of the Federal "assault weapons" ban.

NCLN is a strong courtroom advocate of conservative values. When the Clinton Administration attempted to manipulate congressional reapportionment by interjecting statistical sampling into the 2000 census, NCLN joined with other conservative groups in challenging the scheme. The effort culminated in a landmark victory before the U.S. Supreme Court in U.S. House of Representatives v.

U.S. Department of Commerce. Later, in Boy Scouts of America v. Dale, NCLN co-sponsored a U.S. Supreme Court brief that helped to vindicate the right of the Boy Scouts to exclude homosexuals from the ranks of the organization's scoutmasters.

As a stalwart defender of free speech, privacy and other rights, NCLN participates in court cases and appears before various regulatory agencies such as the Federal Election Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. NCLN's briefs and legal analysis helped to dismantle regulations designed to impose a federal ID system and helped kill the Clinton-proposed "know your customer" banking rules.

ASAP and NCLN frequently coordinate activities. For example, the two projects rushed to the aid of Army Specialist, Michael New, when he refused to obey orders of the extra-constitutional United Nations Command while serving in Macedonia in 1997. The efforts for Michael New included two amicus briefs before the U.S. Supreme Court. ASAP and NCLN also joined forces in fighting the implementation of the United Nations International Criminal Court (ICC). ASAP and NCLN representatives have debated the ICC's proponents, rallied opposition to the treaty on Capitol Hill and written extensively on the dangers posed by the Court.

As a 501(c)(3) organization, donations to Citizens United Foundation and its projects are tax deductible. This allows conservative supporters to assist in our goals of research and education on vitally important issues.

Planned Giving —The time is now

"Far and away the best prize that life offers is the chance to work hard at work worth doing."

With a little advance planning, you can direct your hard-earned wealth to your family and the charitable organizations important to you - instead of to the government. Your estate plan should reflect your unique set of personal priorities. The legacy you leave can benefit the Federal Government or it can help your family and help Citizens United Foundation to restore our government to citizens control and promote the traditional American values of limited government, free enterprise, strong families and national sovereignty and security. The Staff at Citizens United Foundation is pleased to work with you and your financial advisors to direct more of your hard-earned wealth to your family and your favorite charitable interests.
